Declaration

Whereas, Education Support Professionals in Utah's forty-one school districts – men and women working in student transportation, teacher/instructional assistant positions, daily maintenance of school property, custodial operations, child nutrition, secretarial services, warehousing, and media services – perform invaluable services in the education of Utah's public school students;

Whereas, these school employees spend a considerable amount of time and energy improving their professional work skills;

Whereas, classified school employees in Utah have an outstanding record of high performance and efficiency in their work;

Whereas, the education of Utah's young people is one of the noblest objectives of our society; and,

Whereas, the efforts of Education Support Professionals are vital to the education of our young people and we recognize these valuable employees for their positive contributions to our public schools;

Now, therefore, I, Gary R. Herbert, Governor of the great State of Utah, do hereby declare November 15, 2017, as

Education Support Professionals Day
